
Cats and Dogs to give away

Posted by cubana - 2008/06/27 15:23

Hi Everyone,

I have been talking to a number of residents who have rescued animals of the streets. Unfortunately, for what reason, they can not keep them. If you know anyone who wants a cat, a neighbor found a liter in a house, another found a starving cat that needs a home and the another has two dogs one of the dogs is a lab mix, the other is pregnant (funny that is like many of the women in west end. You think something is in the water?)

Please help find homes for them

Vonda,

Good news. I was able to finally find a rescue organization that had openings for the litter of kittens and they went up for adoption yesterday.

Thanks for spreading the word.

More good news. Just found out that the first litter of kittens I found (different than the most recent litter) have all been successfully adopted out to new homes by the rescue organization. Hopefully this second litter will be just as fortunate.
